BUOHL FIRE IS LATEST WARNING

To People of Gettysburg on Danger of Doing Longer without Adequate Apparatus Says Fire Chief Plank. Building Destroyed.

That Friday night's fire in which the two story frame structure on West Middle street, belonging to the McPherson Estate, was totally destroyed, demonstrated once again the necessity for the purchase of an automobile engine was the statement made this morning by Chief of the Department, Allen B. Plank.

With the building there burned a quantity of fresh fruit and vegetables, the property of George Buohl, and all of the shoemaking equipment of Theodore Homan.

"If we had had modern apparatus last night," Mr. Plank said, "that fire would have been out in ten minutes. Three plug streams were all we had with which to fight for twenty minutes, and then one engine stream was added. A night with high winds would have meant an enormous blaze, in view of the way we were crippled, and there is no way to tell what would have been the extent of the fire if it had once gotten ahead of us."

The several hundred persons who gathered at the scene of the blaze are likely a unit in bearing out Mr. Plank's contention. The alarm was sounded a few minutes before eleven o'clock. It was almost twenty minutes later that the first sound was heard of the engine working. It was a full half hour from the time the bell first tapped until an engine stream of any force was available and then the fire was practically over.

When the firemen were called out they made quick trips to the various plugs and had three streams from as many plugs trained on the structure which blazed furiously. The large three story McPherson Building on the east started to show signs of yielding to the great heat as did the house occupied by the Misses McCreary on the west. Men with extinguishers were in the garrets of both places, ready for instant work; while the walls of the frame dwelling across the street were kept wet.

Charles H. Wilson, chief engineer, was out of town during the evening and his assistant, Dr. Henry Stewart, was alone with the engine at the outbreak of the fire. The task is too much for one man to handle as rapidly as a bad fire demands and this fact accounted for the fact that pressure was not secured more quickly. Mr. Wilson arrived home on the 11:22 over the Western Maryland and he went at once to the scene and gave his attention to the work.

The blaze is supposed to have had its origin in Mr. Buohl's office. It seemed to be confined to that part of the building when it was first seen by William Kendeheart Jr. who, with George Slonaker, turned in an alarm. Mr. Buohl had left the place about half past eight o'clock in the evening when everything was apparently all right and the cause of the fire is not known. The only things saved were his cash register and some scales.

Mr. Buohl carried insurance. His stock included 150 bushels of potatoes, and a large quantity of fruits and vegetables. There was no insurance on the building.

"The trouble with the automobile fire engine contention," Fire Chief Plank said in his discussion this morning, "is that we need repeated fires to demonstrate the need of such equipment. Last night's lesson will remain in the minds of local people for a few days, then it will be forgotten. It looks as though nothing short of a disaster will really awaken them to actual conditions."

Mr. Plank also called attention to the lack of sufficient gum coats for the firemen and said each blaze usually resulted in the permanent damage to the clothing of some of the fire fighters.

The building destroyed in Friday night's fire was originally located on Baltimore street and was used by the Star and Sentinel. When the three story Star and Sentinel building was erected in 1888, the frame building was moved to West Middle street where it had been used for various purposes. An overheated stovepipe caused a blaze at the same place last December but the fire was put out before any great damage was done.

TOWN'S BURGESS HAS HANDS BURNED

John H. Raymond Painfully Hurt when Working with Electric Device. Eye also Injured. Does not Expect any Serious Results.

Word has been received from Burgess John H. Raymond, in Chester, that he was this week the victim of severe injuries when he was burned by an electric current at the plant of the Keystone Cabinet Company where he is now one of the foremen.

Mr. Raymond was connecting the electric water heating device which is used in connection with the color mixing machine, when a short circuit caused the trouble. All of his fingers with the exception of the little finger on each hand were severely burned and Mr. Raymond also sustained an injury to the one eye. The hands are swathed in bandages and Gettysburg's burgess is badly crippled.

He has sent word to Mrs. Raymond here that he cannot write on account of the condition of his hands but that he does not regard his injuries as serious.

Mr. Raymond went to Chester about a month ago to investigate an offer of employment with the Keystone Cabinet Company. He found the place to his liking and was so satisfactory to the concern that he was made foreman of one of the departments. He has not yet severed his official relations in Gettysburg. During his absence his duties are in the hands of President Butt of the town council, and J. Donald Swope borough solicitor.

TOOK LONG TRIP WHILE ASLEEP

Merchant Firor Taken to Jacksonville, Florida, while in Stupor. Supposed to Have Been Robbed. Remembers Little of Experience.

Losing all trace of his identity, knowing nothing whatever of his whereabouts until he was put ashore penniless from a dredge boat at Jacksonville, Florida, and cared for by a family of Italians, David Firor, of Thurmout, last Tuesday for the first time in a week realized who he was. Letters received by his wife in Thurmout on Friday tell a brief story of the disappearance. Firor disappeared on Tuesday, March 2, and both his wife and mother are overjoyed to know that he is well and unharmed.

Apparently a victim of amnesia or "sleepy-headedness," Firor knows nothing of how he came to be upon the boat. About the last thing he remembers prior to his strange disappearance was his speaking to Miss Helen Rouzer, formerly of Thurmout, in a Baltimore department store. From that time until he was put ashore at Jacksonville his mind was a blank.

Firor had about $60 with him when he left Thurmout on March 2 to go to Baltimore to buy Easter goods for the store in Thurmout. Persons at that place state that he hardly spent this money in Baltimore, and are of the opinion that it was taken from him either before he was placed on the boat or afterwards. His gold watch bearing his initials, he still has. He has been penniless and in his letters asked that money be sent him so that he could return. The request has been complied with.

Since arriving in Jacksonville on this past Tuesday, just one week after leaving home, Firor has been cared for by a family of Italians, who, he says in his letter, have been very kind to him. In the letter received in Thurmout on Friday Firor stated that he had had another attack of drowsiness since being in Jacksonville. Shortly after arriving there he went to sleep and slept all night and a half day.

WANT GYMNASIUM

Committee Appointed for Proposed High School Improvement.

As the result of a petition signed by 250 pupils of the Gettysburg high and grammar schools, presented by Guyon Miller at the meeting of the Parent Teachers' Association Friday evening, the following committee was appointed to investigate the cost of equipping the High School building with a gymnasium, C. K. Gilbert, C. Wm. Beales, Sherman Martin, Prof. W. D. Reynolds, and Prof. Charles F. Sanders.

Dr. Alleman's lecture on the "Schools of the Holy Land and Eastern Countries," was illustrated with his slides used in the school's new lantern and proved to be most enjoyable. The entertainment part of the program was carried out as announced. The Freshman class of the High School was awarded the banner with a total of nineteen parents present. The meeting was largely attended and standing room was at a premium.

The school visiting committee for the coming month is as follows: Mrs. H. C. Alleman, Mrs. L. E. Kirssin, Mrs. Howard Hartman, Mrs. H. B. Bender, Mrs. Ida Mumper, Mrs. Jacob Ramer, Mrs. O. H. Lestz. PRINZ EITEL MUST INTERN

Condition Makes It Impossible to Leave Newport News.

PUSHING THE FRYE INQUIRY

President Wilson Believes Germany Cannot Evade Full Reparation For Loss of Cargo and Vessel.

Washington, March 13.—Confidential reports to officials here on the condition of the German auxiliary cruiser Prinz Eitel Friedrich, in dry dock at Newport News, Va., seem to make it certain that the German raider will be forced to intern there.

Captain Thierichens, commander of the Prinz Eitel Friedrich, has asked for three weeks' time in which to make repairs.

A. J. Peters, assistant secretary of the treasury department, told President Wilson he expected the German commander would not venture to sea again.

Mr. Peters told the president that his reports from Newport News show that the Prinz Eitel is in a very bad condition and utterly unfit to put to sea.

On leaving the president the assistant secretary made the positive statement:

"There is no doubt whatever that the Prinz Eitel Friedrich will be interned."

This statement was taken in some quarters as indicating that the administration was not disposed to facilitate her departure.

Mr. Peters said that coal, water and provisions still are being put aboard the Prinz Eitel, but the collector of Newport News is ready to check this activity as soon as sufficient supplies have been placed aboard the German ship to enable her to reach the nearest German port.

After his conference with the president Mr. Peters talked over the telephone with Captain Kiehne, of the American ship William P. Frye, sunk by the Prinz Eitel, and directed him to get sworn statements from as many of the crew of the Frye as possible. The president directed Mr. Peters to make a most thorough investigation of all the facts in the case.

After Mr. Peters' conference with the president it became known that administration officials take the view that the German government cannot refuse to make full reparation for the loss of the hull and cargo of the Frye. Out of the sum expected to be paid by the German government, the American government will be reimbursed for the amount of the policy on the hull written by the war risk insurance bureau.

Four fast cruisers, three British and one French, are reported to be waiting outside the capes to overhaul the Prinz Eitel should she attempt to put to sea. The British ambassador, Sir Cecil Spring-Rice, has urged the United States to see that all German subjects are taken off the steamship before she is permitted to put to sea. He informally told Secretary Bryan that there was not the slightest chance of the Eitel getting five miles out to sea before she is sunk.

Germany to Conciliate U. S.

London, March 13.—News of the sinking of the American ship William P. Frye, says a dispatch from the Amsterdam correspondent of the Exchange Telegraph company, has caused a most painful impression in German official quarters, where it is ascribed to the unfortunate zeal of an excited captain. The dispatch says:

"No representation has yet been received from the Washington cabinet, which is understood to be awaiting an official report. It is understood strong representations will be made. The German foreign office will meet this in a conciliatory spirit because of the sinking of the ship, which was unwarranted. The press is not yet allowed to mention the incident."

GERMAN SUBMARINES MISSING

Twelve of Kaiser's Under Sea Craft Fail to Return.

London, March 13.—A dispatch to the Daily Express from The Hague says:

"A secret report has been sent from Cuxhaven to the admiralty at Berlin that twelve submarines have failed to report at their base, eight of them being among Germany's newest boats."

"The naval council will meet under the presidency of Emperor William to discuss whether or not it would be better to abandon the submarine war."

PERRY COUNTY LOSES SALOONS

All Licenses Are Refused by the Court.

Harrisburg, Pa., March 13.—Judge W. N. Seibert, of the Perry county courts, announced that he had refused all license applicants and that the county will be "dry."

The refusals were for cause and because of defects in advertising. A year ago the number of licenses in the county was reduced to sixteen. The adjoining county of Juniata is also "dry," as are Mifflin, Huntingdon and Bedford.

End 43 Old Licenses.

Wilkes-Barre, Pa., March 13.—The judges of Luzerne county refused to renew the licenses of forty-three old houses scattered through the county. Nescopec goes dry, the residents objecting to licensed places because Berwick, on the opposite side of the river, is dry. The court also refused 193 new applicants.

RUSS GENERAL A SUICIDE

Sievers, Commander of Routed Corps Kills Himself.

Berlin, March 13.—The Frankfurter Zeitung has received a private dispatch from Petrograd, intimating that General Sievers, commandant of the Russian Tenth Army Corps, which was defeated in the winter battle at the Mazarian Lakes, has committed suicide.

The basis for this inference seems to be the fact that reports have been in circulation concerning a mourning service held for the general in a Lutheran church.

Another defeat of the Russian forces in Poland is announced in the official report from the German general staff.

BANDIT ADMITS PRIEST'S MURDER

Men Arrested at Wilmington Committed Double Crime.

KILLINGS IN TWO STATES

One of the Desperadoes Caught After Pistol Battle Tells of Murder of Clergyman and Housekeeper at New Britain, Conn.

Wilmington, Del., March 13.—To Chief of Police Black and the New Britain detectives at the workhouse Bernard Montvid confessed that he and Peter Krakus, also known as Melba, murdered Rev. Joseph Zebriss, priest of the Lithuanian church at New Britain, Conn., and his housekeeper, on Feb. 8.

Krakus and Montvid were arrested after a pistol battle, in which Francis X. Tierney, a policeman, was killed and three other policemen and two citizens were injured.

A pawn broker had notified the police that the men had tried to pawn valuable watches, and when an attempt was made to arrest them as suspicious characters Krakus opened fire on the police.

Krakus was captured after being wounded, and Montvid, who did not fire a shot, was taken into custody without difficulty.

Montvid told the police he did not actually kill the victims, but he was present when the murders were committed. He said that Peter Melba, or Krakus, the other prisoner, was the principal in the tragedy.

Montvid said he arranged for the murder by selecting the date and arranging for the meeting of the men implicated, and when they met at the appointed place all went together to the house. He says he saw the persons murdered.

The prisoner did not tell how the murder actually was committed, but he made a confession, which was written out and signed. The police refused to make the detailed confession public at this time.

The confession was voluntary, the prisoner having sent for Chief Black and the other policemen, and after they arrived he detailed the circumstances of the tragedy. The police did not interview Melba, not considering it necessary, as he has to answer for the killing of Tierney.

Rev. Joseph Zebriss and his housekeeper, Mrs. Eva Gilmanaitis, were killed in the rectory of St. Andrew's church, New Britain, Conn., on Feb. 8. They had been shot and strangled to death. The housekeeper rushed to the priest's assistance when she heard the revolver shots, but was shot through the arm and fled to her room, the door of which she locked. The murderers broke down the door and then strangled her to death.

DRYS AND WETS IN BATTLE

Both Sides Win Points in Delaware Contest Over Liquor Bills.

Dover, Del., March 13.—Charges that the Law and Order society employs minors in Wilmington to obtain evidence against saloonkeepers were made in the house by Representatives Rash and Elliott.

They made the assertion while speaking in behalf of a bill providing that minors misrepresenting their ages should be equally guilty with the saloonkeepers. The measure also provided punishment for persons inducing minors to misrepresent their ages.

J. Bibbs Mill, representing the Law and Order society, denied the charge. The bill was defeated by a close vote.

Temperance forces defeated a liquor measure providing that when saloonkeepers have obtained signers to petitions they are not required to renew the signatures on the applications unless removing to another district.

Washington, March 13.—An order by the department of agriculture modifying the federal quarantine on the foot and mouth disease, placed Westchester and Courtland counties, New York; Butler county, Pennsylvania, and Green county, Wisconsin, in the closed area.

Other changes made by the order show improved conditions, parts of the Union Stock yards at Cleveland and the Bourbon Stock yards at Louisville being removed from the closed area and added to the "restricted" and "exposed" classifications.

Beaver county, Pennsylvania, was made modified territory. In Illinois, Indiana, Iowa, Kansas, Michigan, Massachusetts and West Virginia counties were put in the exposed and modified areas.

Washington, March 13.—Proposed increases in rates on bituminous coal from Pennsylvania, Maryland and West Virginia mines to Philadelphia, Wilmington and Baltimore for transshipment to points inside the capes of Delaware and Chesapeake bays, were found by the interstate commerce commission to be not justified and ordered cancelled.

Chairman Harlan dissented with the statement that on the record he believed the applying roads, the Pennsylvania, Baltimore & Ohio and others were entitled to the increases.

TOOK LONG WALK

Stumbled Over Rock and Fell Down Embankment.

Charles Wolfeschmidt, a wall paper printer, of Philadelphia, walked from Mount Holly Springs to York with his arm broken. Surgeons at the York hospital reduced the fracture and there is every reason to expect an early recovery. Late he was working near Philadelphia, but business got dull and he was compelled to start out looking for work. His wanderings took him to Mount Holly Springs, but he failed to get employment.

Then Wolfeschmidt started for York and it was in coming over the mountains Thursday morning that he stumbled over a rock, fell down an embankment and was rendered unconscious. When he recovered he found his arm was broken. No help was near and the injured man started off again, making his way through Lewisberry and York Haven until Friday midnight he saw the lights of York and knew that help was near. Wolfeschmidt declared that many times he had been tempted to stop to rest and ease his broken arm, but he believed that if he stopped he could not start again, and kept right on.

BOOKLET ON APPLICATION

RAILROADS TAKE AN OPEN COURSE

Frankly Informing the Public on Important Operating Questions.

Harrisburg, March 5. If the old-time legislator of, say thirty or forty years ago, were to come back to life he would be almost stunned with amazement as he contemplated the night which the railroads are putting up to bring about the repeal of the Full Crew Law.

The railroads are not fighting the organized trainmen, they are not hurrying vituperation at them in the old-time way; they are simply telling them and the public that the law is working an economic evil which neither the people at large or the railroads can afford.

There is no effort to deceive, no effort to lobby, the railroads are simply playing the game with all their cards above the board. They are taking the people into their confidence, and there are many indications that the people appreciate the fact and are making diligent efforts to ascertain whether the Full Crew is a benefit or a detriment.

Possibly the strongest argument that is being put forth by the railroads is that if they undermanned their trains they would be the heaviest sufferers. They frankly ask the people whether it would be likely that they would work directly against their own interests and the safety of their own property. They say: "A freight train of one locomotive at $25,000 and 75 cars at $1000 each would represent $100,000 in rolling stock. Is it reasonable to assume that a railroad would jeopardize the safety of that great capital investment to save $2.75, the wage of an extra brakeman? Would it risk the loss of $100,000 worth of property to save $2.75?"

It is contended that railroads in Pennsylvania and New Jersey last year paid out $2,000,000 for unnecessary brakemen. It is then pointed out that with that much money the railroads could have purchased 200 steel coaches, thus giving a greater degree of safety to passengers, or eighty locomotives, or 67,000 tons of new rail, or they could have block signalled 800 miles of track or eliminated 65 grade crossings.

The above article is furnished by the railroads in their efforts for the repeal of the Full Crew Bill.

Wrong Figuring.

It is a telling commentary on a man when he begins to figure his money in liquid measure.—Philadelphia Inquirer.

GETTYSBURG CLUB

Hanover Alumni of College Form Association.

Thursday evening, President Granville delivered an address before the students and teachers, parents and patrons of the Hanover High School. The subject of the lecture was "The Value of an Education." A large and enthusiastic audience filled the High School auditorium. After the lecture a dinner was given by the Gettysburg College alumni of Hanover and vicinity in honor of President Granville and other invited guests. Covers were laid for twenty seven, the toastmaster being Rev. George W. Nicely, '01. A brief speech was made by each one present and throughout the tide of enthusiasm for Gettysburg College ran high. Three of the alumni present, namely, Mr. D. P. Forney, '37, Dr. Robert N. Meisenholder, '69, and Rev. Samuel A. Diehl, '72, heard President Lincoln deliver his Gettysburg address.

At the close of the dinner it was unanimously decided to organize a Hanover-Gettysburg College Alumni Association. A temporary organization was formed with Dr. John E. Meisenholder, '97, as president and R. L. Hoffacker, '09, as secretary. Every indication points to a most prosperous future for this new Gettysburg College Alumni Association in our neighboring city of Hanover. J. M. Heppeler, '13, instructor in science in the Hanover High School, was chairman of the committee on arrangements and the great success of this meeting of Gettysburg men was largely due to his untiring efforts.

EMPIRE

EMPIRE

"The Little Aristocrat"

The Latest Empire Acknowledged Aristocrat of its Class

"Less than one thousand dollars" has been definitely set, by the majority of prospective buyers, as the price they will pay for an automobile this season. It is a decision not made from necessity, but based on good business judgment. Even a year ago, such a decision could not have been made by the man desiring a SATISFYING and COMPLETE car.

EMPIRE Model 31-40, proves the wisdom of such a decision. At $975, this latest EMPIRE provides everything to be desired in a five passenger motor car, and is, in truth, a SATISFYING and COMPLETE family car.

At first sight, this new EMPIRE appeals to you. The streamline body, characteristically European, is one of exceptional beauty. Every detail is worked out with exacting care. From radiator to roll back, there is not a break in lines. Extra roominess with wide, low seats, and deep cushions upholstered in selected, genuine leather, assures maximum comfort with full carrying capacity.

And appearance is more worthy of consideration this year than ever before. Recent developments in body design characterize the new EMPIRE type as lasting—one that will be in vogue for years to come, because of its grace of lines.

In keeping with the up-to-date design of its body, is the EMPIRE chassis, the most thoroughly tested light car foundation on the market to-day. It gives unfailing service day in and day out, season after season. Proof of this, as well as indisputable evidence of the correctness of fact that the EMPIRE chassis has been of EMPIRE material, and the efficiency of EMPIRE workmanship, are found in the EMPIRE chassis has been continued for five seasons, without change in any basic principal of construction.

The motor is one of abundant power, that will master the worst road conditions. Its efficiency and economy is marked—19 to 21 miles per gallon of gasoline is the average attained by EMPIRE owners.

The EMPIRE is a car without mechanical troubles. One owner writes—"An average driving cost has been less than one cent per mile." Another says—"Have driven my EMPIRE 8,000 miles without mechanical repairs." All vital parts, all portions that must stand strain are made 30 to 40 per cent oversize, to assure surplus reliability and sturdiness.

The equipment is complete to the last detail. It includes everything needful to comfort and convenience—guaranteed electric starting and lighting with extra size storage battery, speedometer, demountable rims, electric horn—and as an increased factor of safety—non-skid tires on rear.

An exceptional warranty is back of each EMPIRE, for EMPIRE cars are fully guaranteed for one year. It is the only car in its class that has such a liberal guarantee covering even electrical equipment. The usual manufacturers' warranty is for but ninety days. EMPIRE owners are protected for a period four times as long as other car owners.

This broad guarantee best indicates the EMPIRE company's faith in its product. Before you make your decision as to the car you will buy, you owe it to yourself to study in detail this new 1915 EMPIRE. Electric starting-lighting.

Touring car now here. I will be pleased to demonstrate. Write for latest catalogue fully descriptive of this car, the acknowledged aristocrat of its class.

Quality. Compare Prices

THE old Olympic Game promoters were great for what we call "form." Symmetry, proportion, soundness and proper balance out-bid bulging muscles for favor—yes, and out-won, too, just as they will today.

Mere bulk never was synonymous with endurance—and the truth of this statement drives home with a bang, when you apply it to tires.

IF thick, heavy tires were the last word in tire construction, we could wipe out of existence a Goodrich Research and Test Department employing seventy people. We would take off the road a battalion of ten automobiles, that run twenty-four hours a day and every day in the year, grinding tires of all makes to pieces, just for the sake of information to us and eventual economy to the user of Goodrich Tires.

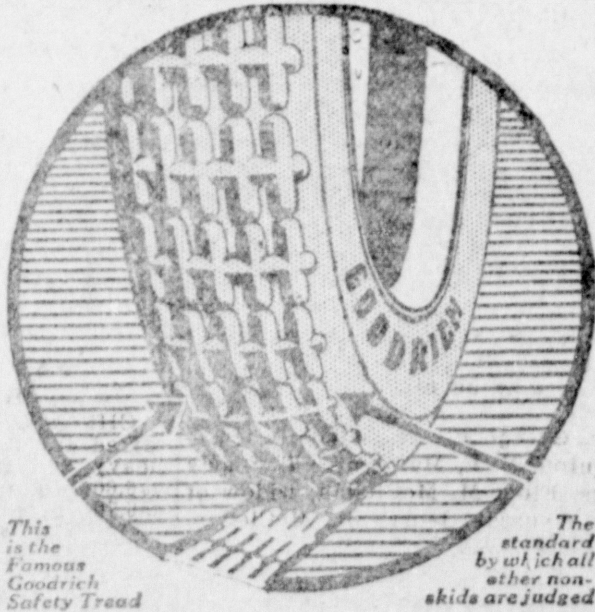

There is where we learn to cut out of a tire the material which gets the user nothing.

Of course, when we stripped tire price lists of their padding—fictitious values—we expected rivals to say we had stripped our tires.

Note the following table of comparative prices on non-skid tires. Columns headed "A," "B," "C" and "D" represent four highly-advertised tires:

Size	Goodrich Safety Tread	OTHER MAKES
		"A"	"B"	"C"	"D"
30x3	9.45	10.55	10.95	16.35	18.10
30x3 1/2	12.20	13.35	14.20	21.70	23.60
32x3 1/2	14.00	15.40	16.30	22.85	25.30
34x4	20.35	22.30	23.80	31.15	33.55
36x4 1/2	28.70	32.15	33.60	41.85	41.40
38x5	33.90	39.40	41.80	49.85	52.05

If you are charged less for any other make than Goodrich, they are taking it out of the tire; if you are charged more, they are taking it out of you.

AMERICAN SLAIN BY MEXICANS

John B. McManus Murdered by Zapatistas.

PUNISHMENT IS PROMISED

Brazilian Minister Reports Incident to Secretary Bryan and Order For Reparation Follows.

Washington, March 13. — John B. McManus, a Denver mining man, was killed when Zapata forces entered the city.

An American flag was flying over his house and the doors had been sealed by the Brazilian consul, say advices to the state department from the Brazilian minister in Mexico City.

General Salazar, the post commander, promised the Brazilian minister he would punish those responsible for the murder, which is said to have been one of revenge because it was charged that McManus killed three Zapatistas when they were in the city before.

Secretary Bryan took the dispatch on the killing of McManus to the cabinet meeting, and they were laid before President Wilson.

After a conference between President Wilson and the cabinet, a formal demand was sent to General Salazar insisting that the Zapatistas guilty of the murder of McManus be punished and that adequate reparation be made to the family of the victim.

Accounts of the killing of McManus varied. Some persons said he fired the first shot at the Zapatistas as they were trying to force an entrance to his house. Others said the Zapatistas started the shooting.

The American's hat was full of bullet holes, and that is said to indicate that the attack on him had been made from a short distance. After he had been killed the house was looted.

The Brazilian minister demands immediate satisfaction for the murder in the name of the United States whose interests he represents in Mexico City.

The message from the Brazilian minister set forth that McManus was attacked in his own home, when the Zapatistas were withdrawing at the time of their being driven out by General Obregon, and that the comrades of the men he killed in self defense took the first moment to wreak vengeance upon him.

"Apparently McManus was killed in cold blood," says the report. "His body was found riddled with bullets."

The fact that the American flag had been hoisted over the house and the door had been sealed by the consul of a neutral power, was taken by officials to indicate that either McManus felt he was in danger or that all foreigners were fearful of their safety with the entry of the Zapata troops and took steps for protection.

The killing of the American is described in the official dispatches as having caused the greatest excitement and emotion in the foreign colony.

Official dispatches received in diplomatic quarters from legations in Mexico City say that one British house was looted and 100 persons were injured in the disorder which prevailed between the evacuation of Obregon and the entry of the Zapata troops.

Two thousand Mexicans stormed the National Palace in Mexico City in an effort to release 250 Catholic priests imprisoned there.

A riot followed, and Octavio Bertrán, chief of police of the capital, was attacked. Two Mexican assassins who attacked him were killed. A large number of persons were injured.

2,000,000 HEARD SUNDAY

Rev. Dr. Bickley Makes Estimate of Crowds in Philadelphia.

Philadelphia, March 13.—Two million persons have jammed their way into the big tabernacle at Nineteenth and Twentieth and Vine streets since Billy Sunday opened his campaign here on Jan. 3.

This is the estimate announced by Rev. Dr. George H. Bickley, the vice chairman of the campaign committee. It is because most of these people will want to join in the free will offering to the evangelist, he said, that six days instead of one were designated for the collection of that fund.

Nine-Year-Old Boy Moonshiner.

Bluefields, W. Va., March 13.—William Hubbard, nine years old, said by the federal authorities to be the youngest "boot-legger" on record, was arrested in a raid by a United States marshal's posse in the mountains twenty miles from Norton. Young Hubbard, according to the revenue officers, was found with an eighteen-year-old cousin operating a complete still, which had a capacity of thirty gallons.

Get Site For New Hospital.

Easton, Pa., March 13.—The Easton Hospital association has closed an option on an entire block of ground on Lehigh street, from Twentieth to Twenty-first streets, as a site for a new public hospital. A series of public meetings will be held to raise funds to erect the buildings, and it is proposed making the institution one of the largest in the state.

Easy & Practical Home Dress Making Lessons

Prepared Especially For This Newspaper by Pictorial Review

WHERE CONTRAST IS MOST EFFECTIVE.

Afternoon costume in brick red chiffon cloth trimmed with black satin and worn over a lace underbust.

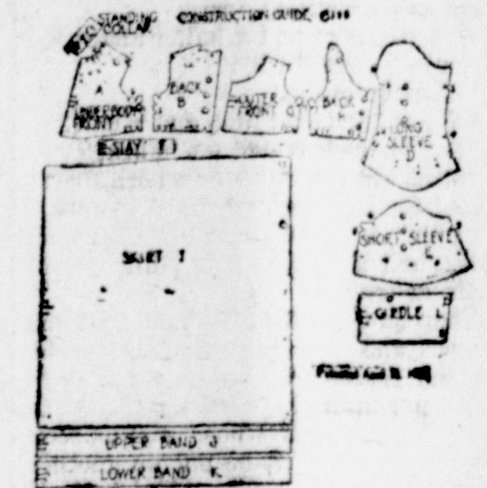

Brick and red make a splendid combination for a dressy frock for springtime. Chiffon cloth and charmeuse satin are used in the development of this model, satin being used for the band on the skirt, the girdle and piping for the skeleton blouse. Two yards of 36-inch satin are required for the purpose, while the dress calls for 4 yards of chiffon cloth 44 inches wide.

and 1 yard of figured net for the gumpie.

Beginning with the underbody, close the under-arm and shoulder seams, then hem the back. Gather the neck edge of the front and draw in as desired.

The pleats are laid on shoulder edge of front of outer blouse by placing "T" on double "oo" perforation. Lap shoulder edge of back on front, matching small "o" perforations, and stitch. Close the under-arm seam and turn in the hem at the back.

Now, find the double "TT" perforations and gather the lower edge of the waist between them. Center and under-arm seams are next placed at similar points on the underbody and the lower edges of both stitch together. Sew stay to lower edge of waist and bring single large "O" perforations at shoulder together and tack.

For the skirt, close the back seam from large "O" perforation to lower edge and finish edges above for opening. Turn under lower edge 3 1/2 inches for a hem. Gather upper edge between double "TT" perforations. Close back seams of bands, adjust on skirt, centers even; stitch upper edges along crosslines of single small "o" perforations, and, if shorter length skirt is made, stitch bands 2 inches higher. Sew to lower edge of waist over stay, centers even, small "o" perforation at under-arm seam. Gather back edge of girdle between double "TT" perforations and adjust to position, closing on left side; large "O" perforation in girdle indicates upper edge.

The design of this frock makes it adaptable to making over gowns from a past season, because two or more materials can be combined effectively in its construction.

Pictorial Review Costume No. 6111. Sizes 22, 24, 26, 28, 30 and 42 inches bust. Price, 15 cents.

"The Thinkers of the Country Are the Tobacco Chewers"— said one of the greatest thinkers this country ever produced.

Says the Judge:

"My brain grasps the points of a case more easily when I'm chewing PICNIC TWIST. I suppose it's because of the gentle stimulation that PICNIC TWIST gives without the after effects of "strong" tobacco.

"Have you ever noticed how many great jurists chew? Well, there's nothing better to oil the wheels of justice than PICNIC TWIST."

Have you ever wished for a tobacco that you could keep on chewing without feeling that you were over-chewing?

For a long time you've really been looking for PICNIC TWIST, with its lasting sweet taste, and true tobacco satisfaction with no "come-back."

Compare PICNIC TWIST in taste, looks, convenience or any other way, with any dark "heavy" tobacco. Then you'll know the advantage of chewing the light, mild, mellow part of the leaf, the only kind that goes into PICNIC TWIST.

There are few better preservatives of the teeth than PICNIC TWIST.

A Village Tale

By M. QUAD

Copyright, 1915, by the McClure Newspaper Syndicate.

It was when Uncle Ebenezer Davidson was postmaster at Hopeville that Silas Thompson and Ben Goodheart met at the postoffice one evening, and as they sat around and whittled and waited for the mail to come in Silas lazily queried:

"Eben, you've been to Cat Hill a hundred times, I reckon, and just how far do you call it from Hopeville?"

"Just as far as it is," answered Eben after thinking for about three minutes. "And that's ten miles?"

"Who said it was?"

"I say so. I carried the mail on that road for three long years, and I reckon I know the distance pretty well. I asked you because some one said you call it only nine and a half miles."

"And that's what I'm sayin' this mornin'. It's nine miles and a half to an inch."

"Say, Eben, didn't you measure it with a party short tape-line?" asked Silas as he whittled away.

"It's just nine and a half," answered Eben in a dogged way.

"It's exactly ten."

"Not an inch over nine and a half?"

"Not an inch under ten miles?"

"Silas, are you crazy or a born fool?" asked Eben as his hair began to curl.

"I ain't a big nuff fool to call it nine miles and a half to Cat Hill!" yelled Silas in reply.

They jawed about it half an hour longer, and they parted bad friends.

In the course of two or three days Eben put up a sign reading, "Cat Hill - Nine and a Half Miles," and as soon as Silas heard of it he put up another reading, "Cat Hill-Ten Miles."

That made things worse, and a half dozen families were mixed up in the quarrel.

Almost every night in the year the two men met at the postoffice, and though they wouldn't notice each other, they had their ways of hurting each other's feelings.

Silas would look around to Ezra Billings and giggle and chuckle and say:

"Did you hear that Cat Hill had moved inland a half a mile, Ezra? She used to be ten miles from Hopeville, but she moved up to nine and a half to accommodate sartin smart folks."

Eben would be hurt and want to get even, and he'd look at Jabez White and say:

"Heard about that escaped lunatic, Jabez? They say he's measurin' the road from here to Cat Hill with a tow string and that it keeps him crazy because he can't make but nine and a half miles of it."

The two men never came to blows, but they never met without trying to hurt each other's feelings. If one favored anything the other opposed it, and they were contrary in politics, religion and all public improvements.

One day Eben got buried in his well by a cave-in, and though Silas helped to dig him out the chance was one to say:

"Mebbe this narrow escape from death will make him turn to the truth in the future and admit it's ten miles to Cat Hill."

It wasn't four weeks after that when Silas had a saw log roll over him, and as he lay there all flattened out Eben came up and looked on him and said:

"He seems to be a goner, but if the Lord lets him live it will be that he may take half a mile off the distance to Cat Hill and save his soul from perdition."

Folks thought the dispute might wear itself out in a year or two, but it didn't. It kept right on for twenty long years and never grew cold. Eben would have gone to Indiana to live, but he didn't want to leave Silas behind to crow over him, and Silas would not go to Syracuse to run a sawmill for the same reason. At length Eben lay on his dying bed, and just the minute the doctor told him his case was hopeless he sat up and said:

"Then I want you to send for Silas Tompkins. I've got something I want to say to him before I die."

Silas didn't hang back about coming, and after he'd arrived and said he was sorry Eben said to him:

"Silas, how far is it to Cat Hill?"

"It's just ten miles, Eben. Jest ten."

"But I'm a dyin' man."

"Yes, I know, but it's jest ten miles."

"It's only nine and a half, Silas, and you are as big a fool as you was twenty years ago!"

"Ten miles!"

"Nine and a half!"

Silas went away, and Eben died, and a year later Silas was called to go. When he realized it he said to his wife:

"Martha, don't let anybody bluff you when I'm gone. It's ten miles to Cat Hill, and you stick to it if you have to live on cold taters."

"I'll do it, Silas," she answered.

In a day or two he was dead and buried, and as the usual crowd met at the postoffice in the evening the talk was all about the two men and their lifelong dispute. Some said one was right, and some said the other. There was a stranger present, and by and by he picked up his ears and asked:

"Was you folks talkin' about the distance to Cat Hill?"

"We was," says Moses Campbell, and he goes on to explain about Eben and Silas.

"Why, they were both blamed bluffers!" says the stranger when he had the facts in hand. "I'm the man who opened and surveyed that road, and it's jest exactly nine and three-quarters of a mile long!"

Modern Improvements.

"They certainly are improving on the old style of sending things. They can even telegraph photographs now."

"Yes, and I notice that presents of flowers can be wired."
